FROM THE EDITOR! "UNSPOKEN THOUGHTS"

A New Year's Dawn in Caracas
On this first week of 2026, Venezuela's long nightmare of dictatorship is over. In a swift Christmas-week operation, President Donald J. Trump ordered U.S. special forces into Caracas. Nicolás Maduro—the tyrant who starved his people, rigged elections, and turned a prosperous nation into ruin, was captured alive and is now in U.S. custody awaiting justice. "Thousands poured into the streets waving flags, weeping with joy, fireworks lighting the sky, no "I hate America" signs, no angry chants. Just pure celebration of freedom." Yet some corrupt media spun it differently. Local California news even suggested the happy crowds might be protesting Trump "taking their president." For a "protest," they sure looked joyful. "This is decisive leadership." "This is America remembering its strength and duty to the oppressed." "Maduro is gone." "The Venezuelan people are free." "The message to every dictator: your time ends when America says so." "Welcome to 2026—the year liberty roared back. Call Me! or email: editornickelshopper@aol.com
